

We Choose All of Us

We are a people who choose
A world where everyone is valued where everyone is safe where everyone can thrive
A world rooted in interdependence, resilience, regeneration
A world where love is love and kindness is everything

We choose to embrace transformation
To weave together our voices and stories
To find our way back to our ancestors and ourselves through love and community
We choose to be bold enough to celebrate each other
To see our interconnectedness and honor our differences
To listen deeply; hear and be heard

We believe in a collective humanity
In one family, one community, one people
In the power of language
In conversations that transform our hearts, minds and world
We believe in becoming something bigger than ourselves
In imagining together, achieving the unimaginable Together we can change anything.

We believe our choices have power
And in choosing to create the new story of Idaho
We choose all of us.
